SENATE
Senate Bill No. 1298

Introduced by Senator JUAN MIGUEL F. ZUBIRI

AN ACT
RECOGNIZING THE CIVIL EFFECTS OF CHURCH DECREED ANNULMENT

EXPLANATORY NOTE

As enshrined in the 1987 Constitution, the State recognizes marriage as an inviolable social institution¹. As marriage is the foundation of the family, the State shall defend the right of spouses to found a family in accordance with their religious convictions.

In the Philippines, more than eighty-six percent (86%) of the population is Roman Catholic while four percent (4%) are from Muslim minority.² In a predominantly Catholic or Christian Philippines, marriage is also a religious act. Although it is a religious act, marriage solemnized in the church is recognized by the State. Corollarily, the State should also recognize the annulment of marriage granted by the church.

Similar to this principle is the recognition the State gives to divorce under Islamic Laws through Presidential Decree No. 1083. Thus, there should also be State recognition of annulments granted by the Church or by any duly recognized religious denomination, consistent with the principle of equality before the law.

Although divorce remains a contentious issue in the Catholic Church, annulment of marriage is allowed. However, the process is both inefficient and arduous depending on the nature of the case and the available evidence. As a result, the annulment process can take years to conclude. In September 8, 2015, Pope Francis released two motu proprio documents that were meant to make the annulment process more efficient.³ The date of effectivity for the documents was December 8, 2015.

Given the strides taken by the Church to improve the efficiency of the annulment process and the State's principle of equality before the law, this bill proposes to recognize church annulments to have the same effect as an annulment declared by a competent court.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
