EXPLANATORY NOTE

The principle that public office is a public trust signifies that public officials hold this power in trust to benefit the people and never the interests of a few. Hence, they shall hold themselves accountable and act with the utmost integrity at all times. This weighs heavily on our military and uniformed personnel who have sworn to serve and protect our people and defend the State.

No one could argue that our government institutions rely on factual and accurate information in order to act in the best interest of our people when it comes to the enforcement of our laws. In the case of Congress, for example, it goes without saying that presenting misleading and inaccurate information or testimony before these bodies impedes the process of fact-finding and policy-making. More importantly, this undermines public trust in our military and uniformed personnel, who are expected to protect the nation and its citizens from threats.

While the Revised Penal Code of the Philippines currently criminalizes perjury and false testimony, the current penalties are not commensurate with the consequences of receiving false testimonies from government personnel during Congressional proceedings in addressing and protecting the public interest.

Thus, this amendment seeks to introduce a higher penalty for military and uniformed personnel who commit perjury in any congressional proceeding. It is an attempt to further safeguard the truth and increase the deterrent for making false statements, particularly within institutions central to the maintenance of peace, order, and national security.

Given the great role of these agencies in enforcing the law, it is of utmost importance that their personnel maintain the highest degree of honesty and integrity.

In light of the foregoing, the immediate enactment of this bill is earnestly sought.

ROBINHOOD PADILLA
